More Assaults on Christians in Church

A group of bearded men on motorcycles, suspected members of a notorious Islamic group, stormed the Church of Pakistan during Sunday service on Oct 28 in Bahawalpur, eastern Pakistan, killing no less than 16 people. Several others were critically wounded. The obviously well-trained terrorists first killed the Policeman on security duty before barging into the Church "shooting indiscriminately with automatic weapons". They were in the Church for a full 5 minutes. It wasn't immediately clear whether or not the assault is related to anti-U.S., and anti-government sentiment over the airstrikes in Afghanistan. (CNN).

Also, out of Church: Gunman kills 14

A gunman in police uniform stormed the local assembly of the Swiss Canton of Zug and opened fire, killing 14 people and wounding 14 others. It is the bloodiest in Switzerland, says a police officer. The lone gunman burst into the government building in the quiet town and fired around for several minutes.

Devil goes on wild rampage against Christians in Northern Nigeria :

With the freezing of the major accounts of Al Queda and the inevitable cut-off of easy money, "Political Sharia" militants are no doubts in a very desperate position. And like a snake already cut into two, they are out on a wild rampage against the Saints in Northern Nigeria. The first of recent salvos was fired at Jos. What started like a skirmish when some militant Moslems "sealed off [a] street which houses a mosque, for the Friday Jumat prayers" soon led to the gruesome murder of dozens of innocent people (Guardian Sept 9). However a week later The News magazine (Sept 24) wrote of "a hideous spectacle" of "over 1000 human cadavers" lying on the streets. → page 2

Campaign stepped up AGAINST Christian proselytization:

Many of us take for granted the opportunity to be able to share the Gospel without anything more than a few inconveniences and perhaps some molestation. However even before the Sept 11 bombing, Afghanistan has been in the news for its more violent and aggressive attitude to Christianity. For instance Guardian of Sept 9 (pg 5) reported the case of 8 members of Shelter Now International who faced death sentence for preaching the Gospel; and also on the same page, the expulsion of members of another NGO, the International Assistance Mission, and confiscation of Gospel materials found with them.

Luke 21:

"²⁵And there will be signs in the sun, in the moon and in the stars; and on the earth distress of nations with perplexity, the sea and the waves roaring: ²⁶men's hearts failing them from fear and the expectation of those things which are coming on the earth.....²⁸ Now when these things begin to happen, look up and lift up your heads, because your redemption draws near...³¹So you also, when you see these things happening, know that the kingdom of God is near. ³²Assuredly, I say to you this generation will by no means pass away till all things take place"

It's Harvest Time!

It's indeed a season of Harvest into the Kingdom of God with anointed men of God labouring out there in the field. Yet to recover from the mighty shakings of the Holy Ghost Convention organized by the Sword of the Spirit Ministries (hosted by Bishop Francis Wale Oke), the city of Ibadan will again witness the decimation of the hordes of hell as Evangelist Reinhard Bonke storms the city with his "blood-washed Africa" message. Here is the simple message that has never failed for once in producing amazing results to God's glory. If at all you can make it, be part of this great meeting holding Nov 7 – 11. The Osogbo version will hold Dec 5-9.

As usual, the big one to round off the year will be the Holy Ghost Congress of the Redeemed Christian Church of God (Dec 13-15) holding at the Redemption Camp. Formerly called the Holy Ghost Festival, the Congress (usually attracting millions) to be hosted by Pastor E.A. Adeboye will certainly usher in a positive Wind of Change both into our nation and into the lives of individuals who attend. We write this from our personal experience at CA! You too can prove it. Dare you sleep in this Season of Harvest? (Pro. 10:5)

Pfizer used Nigerian children for medical experimentation:

A law suit has been filed in the US against the world's largest pharmaceutical company, Pfizer who during a 1996 meningitis epidemics in Kano treated 100 Nigerian children with the antibiotics Trovan as part of its efforts to determine whether the drug – never before tested in children - would be an effective treatment for the disease → pg 2.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED FOR THE GETHSEMANE PRAYER SCHOOL? VENUE: ALL SOULS CHAPEL, OAU. ILE-IFE. 12-18TH NOVEMBER. TIME 5.00PM – 8.00PM. BUS SERVICES PROVIDED. GO FOR IT!

Pfizer contd. At least 11 of the children who took part in the trial subsequently died with brain damage while some were either partly paralysed or became deaf. The plaintiffs in their suit, said that Pfizer did not tell them that the “free medical aid” was in fact self-serving medical experimentation; or that an alternative proven treatment was being offered, also free of charge, at the same site by the charitable medical group, Doctors without Borders.

Further, Pfizer did not give any follow-up treatment even when the conditions of the patients deteriorated. Dr Juan Walterspiel, Pfizer’s infectious disease specialist assigned to the Trovan test repeatedly told the company’s management that the company was violating international and medical ethical standards but this only earned him a summary dismissal. (Guardian Sept 1, pg 1-2) At least this one case came out into the open.

The bombings in Afghanistan and associated economic strangulations of Al Queda only led to the devil becoming more furious, unleashing a ferocious attack on Christians in Kano with hundreds (officially) gruesomely murdered (CNN Oct 14). We pray the Lord will continue to protect and comfort His people while the struggle lasts.

(Remember, organizations like Macedonian Initiative, located at 1 Apostolic Faith Campground road, Anthony Village, Lagos [e-mail macedonianinitiative@usa.net] can turn your widow’s mite into a real blessing for our persecuted brethren up north.)

A giant boost for the microchip Industry

The US military is spearheading a switch to “smart” identity cards that could open up a new growth market reports the CNN on 28/10/01. The report stated that the US Department of Defense has ordered chip-based ID cards for 4.3 million military personnel over the next 18 months to tighten security on access to buildings, including the Pentagon and to computer networks.

Osama bin Laden factor in Nigeria no longer hidden:

One of the fall-outs of the Sept 11 bombing is the clear demonstration of the high-level infiltration of Nigeria by Osama bin Laden network, which fact CA! has been consistently harping on since May 1999. The Kano killing of Christians (hundreds of innocent lives lost) and the separation of Nigerians together with Arabs as possible agents of Al Queda confirm the influence of Osama here in Nigeria. Thanks to God this influence is now being destroyed. It remains for us to see how long Sharia will remain with the freezing of Al Queda’s funds globally.

Remote surgical operations now possible

The Guardian on Sept 20 (Pg 10) reported that Surgeons in New York have used a robot to remove the gall bladder of a woman in France in the world’s first long-distance medical operation. A team of French surgeons in the US metropolis used video technology and telecommunications to manipulate scalpel-wielding robotic arms in a hospital in North East France. They believe the technique could be used to spread medical expertise across the globe. “We can’t even begin to imagine the implications for medicine; the barriers of space and distance have collapsed” observed Jacques Marescaux, leader of the team. The robot made by Computer Motion could respond to verbal commands like “move up” or “move down” etc.

Education as “tool for Global Peace”

“Education for All for Learning to Live together” - that was the theme of an International Conference on education held in Geneva, Switzerland under the auspices of UNESCO between Sept 5 and 8. Over 600 delegates from all around the world were in attendance at the Conference presided over by Nigeria’s education minister, Prof Babalola Borishade. We can therefore be sure Nigeria will be among those to aggressively attempt the implementation of the points decided at the Conference. Part of the draft read: “Given the enormous complexities of the problems all societies have to face, particularly globalization,...it has become a necessity in all regions of the world [to have a review of education curricula]” (Guardian Sept 20, pg 39) See related article on pg 5.

Maiduguri Ritual Killers trial Stalling

The celebrated case of serial ritual killings involving 13 year old girl, Jummai Hassan and Michael Akinola Asade (Fed. Office of Statistics, Maiduguri) and Oluseyi Seriki (see Vol 4 No 5) is stalling showing clearly that powerful forces are interested in the matter. The case was first adjourned to August 14 and then August 31 and later Sept 7. The case has not been heard at all as the Director of Public Prosecution is not making any presentation at Court. The Police has washed its hands off the case, saying “We have played our own part”. (Guardian Sept 10, pg 16) . Remember the ritualist/cannibal, Clifford Orji? Well, nothing has been heard of any of his accomplices having been apprehended, nor of Orji himself being put up for trial.

Anthrax: turning Americans back to God

“I think it’s prudent to prepare for a mass-casualty event”. So said Raymond Zlinkskas, former UN bio-weapon inspector in Iraq. But nobody is waiting for the government to protect them. As the frailty of “human hands” are becoming ever so obvious over 20,000 Americans have placed themselves on antibiotics, but many more are turning to God. In open defiance of the Supreme Court, people are now praying in Public places. Details at <http://www.jewishworldreview.com/cols/feder.html>

HEY! THE QUESTION IS NOT WHETHER OR NOT THERE WILL BE PEOPLE STANDING FOR CHRIST IN THESE END TIMES. THE QUESTION IS WILL YOU BE ONE OF THEM?

Fall-outs from One Child Per Couple policy

The one-child policy in China is bearing forth multiple troubles for the country. First the unnatural preponderance of males over females among the youths suggests that people have been getting rid of female children (either during pregnancy or early after birth), preferring their only child to be a male. Now this in return is having interesting, even if sad, consequences as finding a wife has led bachelors to desperate measures. Reports indicate that wives are being arranged for an average price of about 20,000 yuan (~N250,000) only for them to disappear weeks or days later. (See Guardian Sept 8, pg 5).

Bishop David Oyedepo, the highly likeable and anointed helmsman of Winners Chapel will be leading the next Outreach meeting of the Campus Christian Community of the OAU. Date is Nov 23 and 24, at the amphitheatre. The devil is in real trouble.

Meanwhile the monthly Body of Christ meeting where Christians from all denominations come to pray specifically for the city of Ile-Ife will again hold on November 18th. Venue is the OAU Department of Local Government Studies, opposite NACETEM. Time is 3.00 pm. All children of God are encouraged to participate in this usually 2-hour prayer event

SIGNS OF THE TIMES: How the implanted microchip will take over your mind

In several past issues we have carefully followed the developments in bio-chip technology highlighting various applications ranging from uses in financial cards such as the Valucard, medical monitoring as in the Digital AngelTM, to social cards such as National ID cards etc. Furthermore, we see that ultimately, virtually limitless number of divergent applications can be put on the same microchip. A visit to the website of MONDEX international will show a gamut of possible applications which can be combined on a single chip.

Struck by the various documented facts, such as the fact that the chip is bio-implantable (i.e. designed to be implanted in living systems such as your body), the subtle but aggressive drive towards the realization of such implantation, and of course, the obvious possibility of monitoring people so implanted anywhere they might be on the globe via satellite, we were compelled to suggest the chip as, at least, the precursor to the Mark of the Beast mentioned in Rev. 13:16.

Several developments have since been confirming this suggestion. In Vol 4 No 3 we showed that the chip cannot be placed just any where in the body of the animal, but that certain sites are specific for different animals. We also have mentioned that as suggested in Rev 14:9-10 anyone taking the chip is irreversibly sold out to the devil. This follows directly from the fact that mind-control functions can now be achieved by implanted chips. In this edition we bring details of how this is achieved and why the hand and head are the two preferred locations for implanting the chip. Full details is found in the cover article of Wired Magazine, Feb. 2000, available on-line at www.wired.com/wired/archive/8.02/warwick.html?pg=1&topic=&topic_set=). The author was Kevin Warwick, Professor of Cybernetics at the University of Reading, England. This is how he began the article:

“I was born human..... I believe it’s something we have the power to change. I will tell you why.”

He then proceeded to describe his August 1998 Cyborg Project in which he was implanted with a chip which served as an interface between him and a computer. The result was that “For the nine days the implant was in place, I performed seemingly magical acts simply by walking in a particular direction”. He explained that the experiment which was set up to determine whether information could be transmitted to and from an implant proved to be a spectacular success.

As at the present time, Prof Warwick is about to embark on a more ambitious experiment which will enable him and his wife to communicate by thoughts alone, even when located in different continents. How is this to be accomplished?

Building directly on results of the first experiment, a chip will be inserted into the two subjects. Location of the chips: close to the nerve fibers in the arm, between the elbow and the shoulder. According to Prof Warwick, this part of the body is very rich in nerves, which in addition go directly to the nervous system without much branching off to muscles and other parts of the upper arm. Further, “most of the nerves in this part of the body are connected to the hand, and send and receive the electronic impulses that control dexterity, feeling, even emotion”. The amiable Professor continues: “This nerve center carries more information than any other part of the anatomy, aside from the spine and the head”. Did you catch that? What this means is that the hand and the head (for more powerful results) are the two most feasible sites for implanting the chip. (One day they will soon tell us that some restrictions will preclude the routine use of the spine for implantation.) With the implant connected to one of these pathways to the nervous system, signals flowing to and fro the system can be observed by the microchip and sent to a computer for recording.

For instance the first experiments to be conducted, according to Warwick, “will be to record and identify signals associated with motion.” How is this done? “When I waggle my left index finger [for instance], it will send a corresponding signal via the implant to the computer, where it will be recorded and stored. Next we can transmit this [recorded] signal to the implant hoping to generate an action similar to the original”. The meaning of all these is that usually to waggle my finger, I simply make the decision in my mind and some electrical signal is automatically generated from my brain via the nerves to the muscle controlling that particular finger, causing the finger to waggle. Now once the precise signal that does this has been recorded, even without my wishing to waggle my finger, once that signal, identified and pre-recorded in a computer is sent [played back] to my nervous system, my finger must waggle.

Actually this aspect of the experiment has been well demonstrated by several other researchers other than Warwick. For example four years ago, researchers at the University of Tokyo, by sending out appropriate artificial signals to the neurons of a cockroach were able to propel the cockroach involuntarily “despite what it might have chosen to do”. Also a team at Emory University in Atlanta, USA, using a chip implanted into the brain of a stroke patient, were able to cause the patient to move a cursor on a computer monitor just by thinking about it. Hence the Mind-Computer interface is already a reality.

But Prof Warwick’s team is interested in more than simply controlling motion by thoughts. The next extension they would be investigating will be to study feelings and pain. In the same way as signals associated with motion can be pre-recorded and played back by the computer to generate the original motion, it is possible to study and record signals associated with a particular ache from a specific point of the body or signals associated with specific emotions. According to Warwick, “when I’m happy we’ll record that signal. Then, if my mood changes the next day, we’ll play the happy signal back and see what happens”.

What all these playing back of the recorded signal achieves is in fact nothing more than hallucination and is bound to lead to a confusion of what reality is for the person involved. Prof Warwick does not seem to be aware or bothered about this. He has much more in mind.

The next extension will be to modify the recorded signals slightly and observe what motion, pain, or emotions they correspond to! Warwick and his team believe that implants might be able to open up a “whole new range of senses”. For instance, the human eye cannot detect some signals such as infra-red, ultra-violet, x-ray, ultrasound, etc. Supposing signals obtained from appropriate detectors for these waves are fed via the chip directly into the nervous system, “bypassing the eyes”, Warwick hopes the nervous system will be able to learn how to perceive them. Thus a Cyborg (i.e. a man coupled to a computer like Warwick) might be able to have what today is considered extra-sensory perception (ESP)! Let’s again quote from Warwick what all these could translate to in real life: “The potential for medical breakthroughs in existing disabilities is phenomenally important. Might it be possible to add an extra route for more senses or to provide alternative pathways for blind or deaf people to “see” or “hear” with ultrasonic and infrared wavelengths? Perhaps a blind person could navigate around objects with ultrasonic radar, much the way bats do.... The concept of sensing the world around us using more than our natural abilities is still science fiction. I’m hoping to change that”.

Gradually, Warwick goes on to explain other possible applications including giving people the ‘high’ they used to get from drugs simply by playing back a pre-recorded ‘high’ signal and so on. He then predicted further applications which we will like the reader to take special note of. Wrote Warwick, “If this type of experiment works, I can foresee researchers learning to send ANTIDEPRESSANT STIMULATION, OR EVEN CONTRACEPTION OR VACCINES in a similar manner”. These applications obviously border on important issues. In our last edition we discussed mood control and population control vis-a-vis the new world order. And in these days of global bio-terrorism, any talk of pure, cheap vaccines is certainly very important and will be considered very seriously! Warwick wasn’t thinking or perhaps was not bothered about abuses however. Rather he sees a very rosy near future where the whole face of medicine is altered “to abandon the concept of feeding people chemical treatments and cures, and instead achieve the desired results electronically. Cyberdrugs and cybernarcotics could very well cure cancer, relieve clinical depression, or perhaps even be programmed as a little pick-me-up on a particularly bad day”.

The culmination of the experiments being proposed will be “to send movement and emotion signals from one person to the other, possibly via the Internet”. And for this, Warwick and his wife Irena will be the subjects. The wife volunteered because, in the words of Warwick, “if anyone is going to jack into my limbic system – to know definitely when I’m feeling happy, depressed, angry or even sexually aroused – she wants it to be her”. And talking of sexual arousal, Warwick was blunt in mentioning that the signals through the chip “at the height of our [sexual] arousal” will be stored and of course could be played back to “relive the experience” at any other time. In short, if all these work out, it will be possible to arouse implanted people even sexually, by force and by remote means, among other possibilities. Talk of complete control!

Warwick goes on and on to paint the picture of a near future where speech will become “baby-talk” as adults now communicate via thoughts. And gradually, without his seeming to realize this, he began delving into psychic aspects of chip implantation. He talks for instance of becoming emotionally attached to the Computer from his first set of nine-day experiment involving motion alone. Said he “As a Scientist, I observed that the feelings I had were neither expected nor completely explainable – and certainly not quantifiable. It was a bit like being half of a pair of Siamese twins....” Warwick recalls how difficult it was for him to agree that the chip be removed after those experiments. He frankly doubts he will be able to agree to have the chip removed after the next experiments which will now involve more than motion. “I expect this feeling of connectedness to be much stronger, particularly when emotional signals are brought into the equation.... These desires – which draw me to the implant – could ultimately influence my own values and what it means to me to be human”. This shows that even without someone pulling some strings somewhere to control the implanted person, the implant itself, interacting so intimately with the psyche of the implanted person, could influence his values, including of morality and ethics, as Warwick further admitted. In actual fact, Kevin Warwick ultimately links everything to evolution. In his opinion, those who take the chip into their bodies, becoming Cyborgs, would have taken the quantum leap evolving into a new species with different mental capabilities as well as moral and ethical judgment from the rest of humanity. Hmm, Evolution by design!

We hope no Christian is carried away by all these so-called “exciting” and “promising” developments. On one hand, this is nothing more than soft-sell spiritism, designed to have mass appeal. Spiritists and witches have been using their thoughts to communicate, move objects around, and manipulate people since Nimrod. And the “feeling of interconnectedness” with the computer Warwick describes is exactly what is seen in such occultic phenomena as demon-possession/familiar spirit/spirit guides etc.

On the other hand, the genuine transformation of Man into a ‘super being’ which all these and similar man-made efforts are trying to imitate is readily available unto you, the Christian, through the person of the Holy Spirit, dwelling richly within the Believer.

Frankly, the only thing exciting in all these is that it confirms other data that the coming of the Lord Jesus Christ must indeed be imminent, for if the time were not shorten, even the very elect might find things impossibly tough! Now individual Christians MUST make a choice. Either you get linked up in a soul-tie with the Lord Jesus Christ or be wired-up to unknown dark forces peddling humanistic philosophies and ideologies. Either get set to do exploits in Jesus’ name or be swept off your feet by the New World Order! As we await to see what the Sept 11 event further leads to, it is clear that you don’t have much time to make your decisions.

At Church Arise!, we do not make the news, we only report it and point out salient facts. Whether we do this or not will not change the situation. Our ministry can only change how YOU prepare for the situation so YOU can come out a Victor rather than a Victim. We hope all these will draw you closer to the only way out – Jesus, accessed through Holiness which is obtainable through the New birth. Contact a living Church near you for more details.

And Here a taste of the New Educational Curriculum for the New World

In the past two editions, we have been alerting Christians on the proposed review of educational curricula for the nation’s primary and secondary schools (see again page 2).. Noticing that the main reasons cited for this review, in the words of the Executive Secretary of the Nigeria Educational Research and Development Council, Prof Ebele Mademesi, were “environmental pollution” and “globalization”, we knew straight away that this is the UNESCO’s World Core Curriculum coming home to roost. We have extensively described this curriculum in previous issues. It was written by Robert Muller with the active help of a spirit-being (a demon) called Dwhal Khul, a fact that was clearly included on the preface of the curriculum when it was presented to the UNESCO for ratification!

Anyway even though we still have not seen the new curriculum (we can be sure it will only be made public at the very late hours to forestall any protests by Christians). Even then the ‘sexual education’ aspect of the curriculum seems to be already out as a recent NTA report showed NGOs discussing the implementation of the new curriculum - for the prevention of HIV/AIDS, as usual.

However, a friend of CA! recently sent us a copy of the South African version of the new curriculum, proposed to take off in the year 2005 in that country. According to a Christian commentator, the 1400 page document is full “of doublespeak and deliberately complicated language and logic designed to confuse people amongst ambiguity and flowery language”.

It confirms most of our previous warnings to Nigerian Christians. For instance on the subject called Life Orientation, Nursery 1 pupils are to be able to identify symbols relating to AT LEAST three religions other than their own. By Primary 3/4 they are supposed to be able to describe the worship practices, value systems, as well as festivals, RITUALS and customs of AT LEAST 3 religions, OTHER THAN THEIRS. By Primary 6 your children are expected to be able to “describe how nature can be a source of spiritual health and MUST be able to sing canons from AT LEAST three different cultures/religions” e.g chant mantras or Odu Ifa etc. By the end of JSS 3, pupils are to be introduced to ‘holistic and traditional healing.’. They will taught “life cycles” (based on acceptance of reincarnation as a fact) and made to “understand how similar belief systems are”. Having thus been taught that all religions are one, Christianity is highlighted as the uncompromising selfish one that refuses to accommodate the others. The curriculum puts it as “Understand that it was not only politics that vilified Africa but also ‘imported’ religion”

On Social Sciences, nursery grade pupils are to be taught to identify private parts of their body (an old idea from the humanist camp). By Primay 6, Children are to understand their rights such as the freedom to choose their own religion or sexual preferences from age 13, as well as accept evolution as a “fact” Everything happens over a span of years during which many other “excellent” programmes will be taught. The little poison ingested here and there along the years however will guarantee that any child who is so indoctrinated will reject the value system of his/her old-fashioned superstitious parents!

More information can be obtained from Councillor Colin Fibiger of the African Christian Democratic Party (P.O. Box 1770, Port Elizabeth, 6000; Tel and Fax (041) 3686118; e-mail acdpe@mweb.co.za). He summarises the overall impact of the new curriculum (which of course will apply to ALL schools - whether public or private or Christian – in four points as below) :

1. Render our children vulnerable to propaganda by diffusing individual and cultural identities. This diffusion is nothing but a relentless psycho-political programme of mind conditioning, removing all individual values so that other can be instilled in their place. “When the house is swept clean, the demon plus seven even worse than he will move in”
2. Impose interfaith religion upon them as a compulsory, examinable subject, requiring our children to confess the values of this ‘new’ religion if they want to receive recognized qualifications.

3. Demonise minorities and individual thinking by establishing a norm of compromise and “group think”. The individual identity of children will be crushed under the weight of the collective.

4. Destroy social diversity by homogenizing moral values and requiring children to acquire and demonstrate state approved values. These values would obviously include abortion, pornography, and the current trend toward legalizing prostitution and drugs.

Once again we encourage all Christians, teachers and parents to be on the look-out for the Nigerian version of this curriculum which we must never allow .

Quantum Entanglement: See how Physicists are now discussing the previous science-fiction stuff of teleporting objects instantly, from place to place. (New Scientist, 26 September 2001).

We are in a war –with an enemy that fights with stealth and tries to remain invisible. If you like, choose to remain in your office at the Market Place and wait to be bombed by a plane probably carrying your spouse or other loved ones - having been hijacked by that enemy. Alternatively, you can arise and seek out the enemy and fight it out! See 1 Jhn 5:5 for an important statement.

LETTERS

You people are doing great. I was impressed when I read one of the editions of your CA! magazine. I was blessed by that May-June 2001 edition. How I wish I could receive subsequent editions! Olakanmi Akinwunmi

I am waiting to receive this month’s edition. Because of the fact that it will focus on the current world events ... I want to see how things will be interpreted in the light of the Holy Scripture. Abayomi Olatemiju

Please do add the following addresses to your mailing list for your newsletter. It is very informative.

Biodun Momodu

This is an interesting lecture. Unfortunately I am in far away California. I just wish a copy of the lecture could be mailed to me. Thanks A. Ajibola

[One of the several requests we had for copies of our lecture on One World Government.]

I must confess that I was greatly touched after going through the copy of CA! (Vol 4 No 4). The newsletter is quite informative and revealing. It exposes the dangers facing a true Christian in the Science and Technology world, as we approach the end time while also highlighting the right path to know, so that at the end, we will be partakers of God’s Kingdom ... Would it be possible to receive the CA! via e-mail? I will like to be an on-line subscriber. Duru Felix

Editor: Church Arise! can now be received on-line! See back page for our e-mail address

CALM Public Lecture on World Government successful: Despite a desperate resistance by the devil, our Public Lecture on One World Government was successfully held 20th September. Warning that the objectives of the lecture was not to speculate, castigate people, create a panic or even an attempt to stop One World Government moves, Dr Joshua Ojo traced the history of One World Government attempts from Babel to the present time He identified the main tactic of World Government advocates as the Hegelian principle where they first create a problem, then generate panic and hysteria in people by publicizing and magnifying this problem, and finally turning round to proffer a solution which they insist is the only way out! [All the calculations of these humanists consistently and casually assumes that a caring omnipotent God is non-existent]. Dr Ojo ended by listing a few areas where this is being done and showed that the final solution that will come out as a sort of panacea will be mandatory human microchip implantation. A few slides were shown, including that of Prof. Warwick’s projects on human microchip implantation.

Dr Abayomi Adebayo of Dept of Economics rounded off the evening with a powerful exhortation calling Christians to arms, trusting the Lord. The extended outline of the lecture is available free of charge either by e-mail or at our Secretariat. We want to appreciate the Chaplain of the All Souls Chapel for allowing us the use of the facilities and Divine Interior Decoration (Road 9 OAU) who offered to set the place for us free of charge. Misan and Bola Egbe partnered with us in organizing this public lecture. None of them will miss their reward in Jesus name.

THE TIME IS FULFILLED

Have you got your copy of The Time is Fulfilled? This is a book containing all editions of Church Arise! from Vol 1 No 1, to Vol 3 No 6, plus other additional materials. All these materials are organized subject-by-subject, and an index is also provided. Describing the book, respected Bible teacher and discipler, Prof Olubodun Ayeni of the University of Lagos wrote that the book “brings awareness to believers of the imminent return of our Lord Jesus Christ by featuring current events which prove that the Word of God is true. It is therefore a must for every serious Christian....It is also a must for the “wise” unbeliever who does not want to be caught unawares by unfolding events of the New World Order which will culminate in the Rapture”. Cover price is N250

A Note to our readers

Due to increasing postal costs, we have decided since last edition to stop bulk mailing to individual subscribers. If we continue with our previous practice, we will soon be spending more money mailing Church Arise! than in producing it! We now send about 2-3 copies to each subscriber by post; and distribute widely using friends moving around the country and beyond. If you will like to receive bulk copies (up to 100 copies) simply arrange for someone to pick them for you at our Secretariat in Ile-Ife, but you need to let us know in advance by mail/e-mail so we can reserve your copies for you. Alternatively if you send postage stamps you can have as many copies of CA! as your stamps will carry through the Post Office. By the provisions of God through His servants whose hearts He has touched, CA! continues to be available free of any charge to all. Thanks for your continued partnership.

Exhortation Continued

'There was another group. It was made up of people whose great desire was to get more sentries out; but they found that very few wanted to go, and sometimes there were no sentries set for miles and miles of the edge.....

'Once a child caught a tuft of grass that grew at the very brink of the gulf; it clung convulsively, and it called – but nobody seemed to hear. Then the roots of the grass gave way, and with a cry the child went over, its two little hands still holding tight to the torn-off bunch of grass.....

'Then thundered a voice, the Voice of the Lord: "And He said, What has thou done? The voice of thy brothers' blood crieth unto Me from the ground."

'The tom-toms still beat heavily, the darkness still shuddered and shivered about me; I heard the yells of the devil-dancer and the weird wild shriek of the devil-possessed just outside the gate.

'What does it matter, after all? It has gone on for years; it will go on for years. Why make such a fuss about it?

'God forgive us! Shame us out of our callousness! Shame us out of our sin!'

government agencies to infringe on privacies previously jealously guarded. ID cards (chip-based), telephone surveillances, searches without warrants, are all part of the new laws. Lucent technologies (Lucent = Lucifer Enterprises), was mandated to lead in the use of state-of-the-art technologies to help either rescue survivors or nab members of Al Qaeda. Of course there are the few notes of caution here and there. However the vast majority supports the infringement of these privacy rights. Apparently, loss of privacy is a small price to pay for staying alive.

We believe at CA! that the road is clearly opened for the implementation of world-wide chip implantation in individuals. By the nature of the problems fostered by the One-World Government advocates – the one same power behind both the US government and Al Qaeda, the one neat solution to these problems will be microchip implantation administered through the current symbol of peace, Nobel Laureates United Nations and her Secretary General. The UN is clearly the only gainer in all these sad developments.

Let's consider a few scenarios which we have mentioned in times past, but which suddenly are no longer as far-fetched as some might have thought them at the time:

1. With the need for exhaustive security checks for air passengers, frequent travelers (of European stock for now) who want to beat the queue now have the option to join the express lane where no check whatsoever is done, once you carry the microchip-based card which gives full fool-proof identification. Some of our readers will recall the SwissAir Fast Track Card (vol 2 No 6). Obviously, this type of card which guarantees "seamless travels" is no longer an optional luxury but virtually compulsory for the serious business traveler.

Implanting the chip is not far away from its massive use on cards, as we show presently.

2. The Al Qaeda network will truly be crazy if they expected that after shaking the very roots of the US and threatening its continued existence, they can somehow survive the reprisals. We can therefore expect, as indeed the US agencies constantly warn us, that the worst might be yet to come. As a US general told the Senate during hearings concerning the US Embassy bombings (also by Al Qaeda previously), "when you have a man who is ready to die, nobody is safe". By definition, the ultimate goal of a terrorist is to strike terror and cause confusion for his adversary. And that means efforts will be directed at the easiest-to-penetrate, yet very strategic targets.

But we really do not have to look out for a fresh worse attack. Currently the terrorists have initiated germ warfare forcing US Houses, Supreme Court, even parts of White House etc to close down at times. That all this is no idle joke is seen in the number of mortalities already being recorded.

Not only will all this development discourage the Old World Order paper-mail approach of communication in the New World as surveillance-friendly ones as e-mail, fax, telephone, GSM etc. take over; with current developments, it is only a matter of time before the risk of getting anthrax makes a world-wide vaccination imperative. At the present time currently available anthrax vaccines are not reliable enough and the risk associated with taking it is considerable. And of course the terrorists could as well switch over to other pathogens, such as small pox, should anthrax be eventually contained. Please read the article of page 4 to see how the implanted microchip could provide a virtually risk-free vaccine, for virtually any disease.

Now the big question, no longer in the realm of theory. How many people will today refuse a sure protection not only against germ warfare, but potentially for other health problems that might arise in future (see Digital Angel, vol 4 No 4)? And these in addition to the various other economic and social benefits that would go with the implantation?

The months or probably weeks ahead will reveal the exploit makers who knowing their God will declare with assurance: Our God whom we serve can protect us against anthrax and other germs. And even if He chooses not to, we will by no means sell our mind to the devil by receiving a chip-implant. Time to get real close to the Lord, don't you think?

TRANSFORMATION II: This powerful documentary video is a vivid description of how the Gospel is making an incredible difference not only in single cities and regions, but also in an entire country (in this case Uganda) – all in response to the fervent united prayers of God's people. EXHORTATION: RESCUE THE PERISHING!

The tom-toms thumped straight on all night, and the darkness shuddered round me like a living, feeling thing. I could not go to sleep, so I lay awake and looked; and I saw, as it seemed, this:

‘That I stood on a grassy sward, and at my feet a precipice broke sheer down into infinite space. I looked, but saw no bottom; only cloud shapes, black and furiously coiled, and great shadow-shrouded hollow, and unfathomable depths. Back I drew, dizzy at the depth.

‘Then I saw forms of people moving single file along the grass. They were making for the edge. There was a woman with a baby in her arms and another little child holding on to her dress. She was on the very verge. Then I saw that she was blind. She lifted her foot for the next step... it trod air. She was over, and the children with her. Oh, the cry as they went over!

‘Then I saw more streams of people flowing from all quarters. All were blind, stone blind; all made straight for the precipice edge. There were shrieks as they suddenly knew themselves falling, and a tossing up of helpless arms, catching, clutching at empty air. But some went over quietly and fell without a sound.

‘Then I wondered, with a wonder that was simply agony, why no one stopped them at the edge. I could not. I was glued to the ground, and I could not call; though I strained and tried, only a whisper could come.

‘Then I saw that along the edge there were sentries set at intervals. But the intervals were far too great; there were wide, unguarded gaps between. And over these gaps the people fell in their blindness, quite unwarned; and the green grass seemed blood-red to me, and the gulf yawned like the mouth of hell.

‘Then I saw, like a little picture of peace, a group of people under some trees, with their backs turned towards the gulf. They were making daisy chains. Sometimes when a piercing shriek cut the quiet air and reached them it disturbed them, and they thought it rather a vulgar noise. And if one of their number started up and wanted to go and do something to help, then all the others would pull that one down. “Why should you get so excited about it? You must wait for a definite call to go! You have not finished your daisy chains yet. It would be really selfish,” they said, “to leave us to finish the work alone.” → continued on pg 7

TOPICAL ISSUE: Here comes the New World Order

For four years now, we have through this newsletter been alerting the Church on the imminence of an anti-christian New World Order. The event of Sept 11, when religious terrorists attacked America, inflicting unprecedented casualties on civilians right at home is a clear first of presumably a chain of events that would eventually usher in the New World Order. With the impacts of the strikes on public psyche world wide, the enormous economic implications of on-going retaliatory actions and consequent even more desperate reactions from the terrorists, only few very deluded people will still fail to appreciate that the world can simply not be the same again. Even if only in the name of “Never Again”, policies will be put in place which will irreversibly usher in The New World Order .

Prior to this time, virtually all the instruments needed to usher in global governance have already been developed. Also, the idea has been sold to multitudes who see it as the only hope for continued survival of mankind. As a matter of fact at the recent meeting (October) of African Parliamentarians held in Abuja, lawmakers from all over Africa openly advocated not only to have a global currency, global police etc, but “if possible one world government”. In 1987 the World Constitution and Parliament Association issued what it called a partial list of world problems, where world problems are defined as issues which can only be resolved when all nations surrender their sovereignty to a central body. The list included environment, nuclear weapons, terrorism, germ warfare, etc. Previous editions of CA! have clearly highlighted various other preparations that have been completed towards the establishment of a One World Government to be centred around the United Nations; and that a catastrophe was what is being awaited that would set the roller-coaster in motion.

Particularly, we believe the ultimate intention is to be able to get the microchip into every human on planet earth. As we have carefully spelt out in the article on page 3, once this happens, One World Government would have already been achieved since the very thoughts and desires of everyone so implanted could be manipulated. Of course, the main hindrance to date is how to get people to submit to such a de-humanizing implantation. The various efforts to get this done have been extensively reported by us.

However it must be mentioned that the main antagonists to human implantation have always been privacy groups. With the Sept 11 event, the first casualty was ‘privacy’. The US legislature quickly passed bills giving unprecedented powers to → continued on pg 7
